

Research Assistant

Serves as a researcher and analyst in support of the Investigations & Research Department of JW. Conducts research for and drafts analyses/papers for review and final publication as studies or educational materials. Demonstrates thorough knowledge of, and aptitude for, exploiting open source materials (Internet, databases, etc.) for developing research topics, papers and products (charts, briefings, PowerPoint, etc.). Capable of researching, drafting and filing FOIA requests with government and state agencies with a minimum of supervision. Attends hearings, meetings, seminars, and public events on behalf of the department and reports back with appropriate materials/exhibits. Position requires occasional travel (20%) in support of research projects or to conduct interviews. BA, excellent writing skills, web savvy, research and/or journalism experience required.

Please submit resume, cover letter and desired salary to careers@judicialwatch.org. Writing samples will be requested.

Judicial Watch provides fully employer-funded health benefits, including medical, dental, vision and prescription, a $50,000 life insurance policy, and short and long term disability coverage. Additionally employees are eligible to participate in our 403(b) retirement and Metro SmartBenefits programs.